

June 18, 1952

Dear Mr. Houston:

Inasmuch as I have finally come to rest, as it were, for the summer at least, I thought you might care to have my current address so that it may be added to the rest of the data which I submitted to you before I left Washington. It is:

STATOTHR

[REDACTED]

This address will be good for an indefinite period of time since it is that of a friend of mine who lives here permanently. It is not the address of the apartment which I have taken here for the summer. I do not think it would be advisable to use my apartment for an address because of the indefinite nature of my plans.

California is wonderful and sunny, as usual. So far I have done little else than loll around on the beach, which is a pastime I can strongly recommend to anyone about this time of year.

STATOTHR